Welcome

CLASS SONG FOR 1918

(Tune: Carry Me Back to Old Virginia)

By Helen Burge Irvin

Welcome ye back to dear old Bethany,
Back where we've spent so many happy days,
From East and West, from the North and the Southland,
We bring thee honor, devotion and praise.
We love its hills and its broad smiling valleys,
Campus so green with its ever-blooming flowers;
Welcome ye back to your fair Alma Mater,
Back where you've spent so many happy hours.

Chorus

Welcome ye back to dear old Bethany,
Back where we've spent so many happy days,
From East and West, from the North and the Southland,
We bring thee honor, devotion and praise.

Nineteen Eighteen bids you a glad welcome,
We next to leave old Bethany's classic halls,
Soon we will scatter to east and to westward,
Some have already answered country's call.
May we be loyal as those gone before us,
May we thy standards as faithfully uphold,
Never forget the days spent together,
Class of '18 and the dear old Green and Gold.

The Bend in the Road

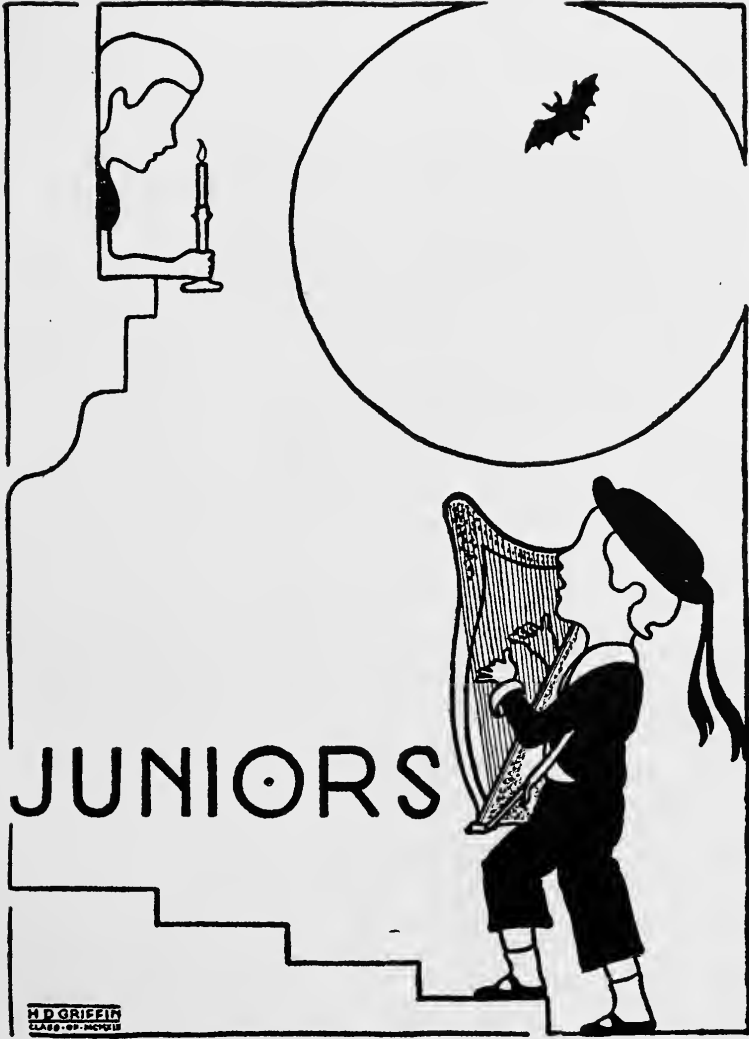

SENIOR CLASS POEM FOR 1918

By Helen Burge Irvin

Four years we have spent together,
We have trod on the self-same way,
And, oh, the road has been pleasant
E'en up to this last, parting day.
But now our paths are dividing,
We approach the bend in the road,
And know not what lies before us
Nor what future years may forbode,

Some of our ways will be easy,
They will lead through paths that are green;
And some will lead through the city,
Through streets that are dirty and mean;
Some pathways must needs be rocky,
And weary the journey and drear;
Some will go out from our number
To fight for Patria, dear.

Wherever our pathways lead us,
When we journey around the bend,
Keeping our ideals before us,
May we strive e'en unto the end—
To prove that we all are worthy.
To be known as belonging to thee,
Thy loyal sons and daughters—
Alma Mater — Old Bethany!

Junior Class Song

By Lane McCammon

We are Juniors of this College,
Every hall we love so dear,
And our Profs and friends acknowledge
We're the best that e'er trod here;
In the class or on the campus
We the crown have won,
And the Juniors of our number
Are as one.

To each member that is absent
We give him our love,
And recall those days of gladness
Spent here long ago;
May they always honor Bethany
In years that are to come,
And return to us in glory —
Every one.

BETHANIAN

HAROLD E. BEATTY

"In fact I know not why I am so sober;
It wearies me; you say it worries you;
But how I caught it, found it, or come by it—
I am to learn."

—Words from Shakespeare.

KATHRYN DEMPSTER BEGGS

Katie Beggs with her Irish eyes
Looks on the world with mild surprise,
She draws her hair of raven black
From her forehead sternly back—
The Profs. all find her hard to stick—
Her friends all think she is a brick—
If more of her you wish to know,
You'd better to our Katie go.

MRS. A. P. BENJAMIN

Here is Mrs. Benjamin. She is the one who came with Austin Parmenas. We believe that Job has nothing on her when it comes to patience. She is working hard to be an ideal preacher's wife, but we think she has reached a high mark of efficiency already. She teaches English Grammar at the College and (?) at home.

AUSTIN PARMENAS BENJAMIN

"Benny" came to Bethany in '17. He hails from God's country, (Indiana)—as he says. He was more fortunate than most of us, for he brought "her" along with him. Perhaps that is the reason that he has been able to pull his over amount of '90's. The class is proud to own him. He preaches every Sunday.

CLYDE L. BUCY

Clyde L. Bucy—the "Little Giant" yell leader of the football season of 1917, will spend his future in the ministry. Clyde continues to believe that the realization is greater than the anticipation,—hence his frequent trips to Massillon, Ohio.

W. GLENN BURIG

W. Glenn Burig, the Recharite boy who likes to laugh, comes from Pennsylvania. He intends to become a physician, and we have every reason to believe that he will be successful. He seems to enjoy strolling down Intellectual Avenue to the Mendel House.

DONALD DOOLEY

Here is one of our men who has almost reached the Heights Sublime in stature. We have never found a ladder quite tall enough to measure his height with, but it is said to be a considerable number. He is not too far above the world to have some interest in it, however, and we seen signs of very particular interest in certain isolated places, and in very clear directions,—possibly more toward one than all the rest of us put together. What does Don intend to be in the world? We are not sure to the dot, but he will not be the Superintendent of a brewery,—we are confident.

W. J. FOSTER

Here is one of our cleverest and best singers. He joined us this year, but seems already like a "well-broken-in" member of the Maroon and Gray. He is on the debating team of the college for this year and we hope he puts in his hardest licks to get glory for the class that already has the best reputation of any class which has been in the college. We all wish you success, not only in the team work, but in your after life. By the way, Foster is not alone in the world like some of us,—and has a kind of an advantage over us.

BETHANIAN

HAROLD GRIFFIN

Mr. Griffin—the husband of one wife—came from the Empire State to Bethany to complete his preparation for the ministry. The editor of the Collegian discovered his poetical ability. The management of the Annual enlisted his artistic talent to beautify the pages of this book. As a member of the debating team he intends to do his part in winning for Bethany. Griffin is an "all-around" man.

ELLEN HAAS

Ellen came from Phillips Bible Institute last year to join us as Sophomores,—and she has proved a valuable addition to our class. Loyal to her class and to Old Bethany, she is gold without the dross—pure, true, and good. Ellen, we wish you success.

PAUL E. HANSON

Here's to the Buckeye student who came to us from Bridgeport in the fall of '15. After deciding to come to Bethany to prepare for the life of a farmer, Paul, recognizing the fact that the first essential of a successful farm is a wife, proceeded to get himself a partner. This couple has our best wishes for a most prosperous career.

NELLIE KITTLE

To join our class of dear '19
From Wheeling came our Nell.
'Tis whispered that this maid can cook—
Her future we can't tell.

Last fall she went to Wilson,
But there she could not stay,
For while so far from Bethany
She pined her heart away.

We called her back among us,
This busy,—“bizzzy” lass,
For she is a loyal member
Of “Maroon and Lead Gray Class.”

BETHANIAN

J. ALVA LINVILLE

Mr. Alva Linville, a member of Beta Theta Pi Fraternity, Y. M. C. A. and Adelpian Literary Society, as usual greets us with a smile. Alva has very little to say, especially in the presence of the gentler sex, but when it comes to lessons "he knocks them cold." The class is very proud of Alva for he raises the class average. We expect Alva to be representing Bethany in some university in the near future unless Uncle Sam sees fit to honor him with a uniform. Wherever he may be, we are sure that he will fulfill his mission with honors to himself and Old Bethany.

LELAND LEE MARION

A genial hermit of the Old Rear Dorm., a courtly knight of Phillips Hall, an earnest contender for the faith, and above all a diligent pursuer after Knowledge,—is this gentleman.

GRACE SEFTON-MAYER

Mrs. Mayer came to us this year from Pittsburgh. We always welcome any of the people who finally realize that Bethany is the place for them. She is an excellent student,—so we have found,—not from credentials but from the way she gets her lessons. We are proud of her in this respect. She is a member of Zeta Tau Alpha Fraternity, and is one of the class's best members.

LANE McCAMMON

Mac is the one fellow in school who is constantly laughing (not smiling)—and has a pleasant word for everyone. He is a member of Kappa Alpha Fraternity and from the way he runs around school one would think he was in a hurry all the time. While Mac doesn't play football he is always interested in the game and is the manager for the coming season. We don't know just what Mac is going to do in the future, but there is a rumor that he will be a preacher,—and he will make a good one too, if he decides to take up the ministerial work. We're all with you, Mac.

BETHANIAN

ADELAIDE McCOLLAM

Adelaide is a genius. Moreover the world benefits by this talent, for Adelaide never refuses to entertain with her music. But well as she is known for her talent of music, Adelaide is just as well known for her talent of "biz." The artistic realm of Bethany will miss her,—for no one can surpass her in music,—and the corridor realm will miss her for no one can surpass her in "biz."

MATTHEW STANLEY MILLER

Gus is a student of no mean ability even though he does spend considerable time on "biz." There are many other things in college life besides work and Gus likes to rest his mind by talking to the ladies. In college affairs he takes an active part in everything that will benefit old Bethany and he always stands ready to exalt her fair name.

RAYMOND R. MILLER

Ray above all else possesses some very definite ideas, among which not the least attractive is his idea of McMechen. He was one of the first to be allured into the aluminum business by the wonderful tales of J. M. Hoye. Once in the business the Ray as usual won remarkable rewards. Under him the Y. M. C. A. has begun to rise into prominence as a college organization.

JACQUE MORRIS

Those who do not know Jacque Morris intimately are missing the greater part of their social college life, for a more noble, upright, worthy, self-unconscious, lovable and generous person never lived. It is just this self-unconsciousness that makes Jacques so modest and shy about expressing his opinion. Jacques was never known to breathe a word of reproach against any living soul, and, summing up all these beautiful traits, "gentle reader" my extreme pleasure and delight, when permitted to state these few modest words in his behalf, you can imagine.

PAUL ROGERS

Here is a sort of a quiet man whom we do not often hear from very loudly. He has a way about him which makes you think that perhaps he thinks more than he speaks tho, and sometimes that is better than the other extreme. He is one of our agricultural leaders and we expect him to be some professor in an Agricultural College or a boss on some big farm. Rest assured, at any rate that you will hear from him later just as you will from all the Red and Grays.

JOSEPH WALKER SELLERS

Do you wonder when you see this honest face that our President is our favorite? There is an open, frank way about Joe that makes our admiration and liking for him ever increase. Joe's looks, words, and actions are the real Joe. And too here is a real musician, who has the most intelligent artistic appreciation,—who can wield the reapest sort of a fellow among the boys. The Juniors are proud of such a man.

PHILLIP H. STEVENSON

Steve thrust himself upon us in his Sophomore year. He is not strong on Oratory, but certainly finds much delight in picking off his man from the Right End. His favorite fruit is chicken.

GEORGE M. SUTTON

Nobody has yet attempted to prophesy just what place George will play in the drama of human affairs. Many avenues of success lie open to him because of his unusual ability and thoroughly likable disposition. Not one from our class is more generally admired by his associate students than George, and not one deserves the distinction more than he. Native study and social organization among the younger boys in college have been hobbies of which the subject of this sketch has made good use in Bethany. His success in life has begun already, and flattering are the prospects which lie ahead. George has well worked into his life the principle suggested in these lines:

"To thine own self be true;
And it must follow as night the day,
Thou canst not then be false to any man."

BETHANIAN

JOHN W. VAN SISE

Jeff comes to us from Cuyahoga Falls and seems to be proud of the fact. He has threatened to go on "Biz" for four years, but we have never seen his threats materialize. Nevertheless he still maintains that he could have. Jeff has planned a career along mechanical lines for himself, but we think he missed his calling when he overlooked music.

MARGARET WALTHOUR

Behold a Junior sweet and fair,
With bright blue eyes and sunny hair,—
Her daily mail her only care—
Hail Margaret!

Of language work she takes her share,
Low grades with her are very rare,
She socially shines everywhere,—
Our Margaret.

Who is it has a promising air?
Who is it that will do and dare?
And for Juniors and Sammies do her share?
'Tis Margaret.

STRAUSS WOOD

Strauss is the owner of a quiet and unobtrusive way-of-being which has made for him many friends during his three years in Bethany. His make-up combines agreeableness without any undue spirit of concession, and this characteristic is contributing much to his purposeful life which he has arranged for himself. Words like these well describe this member of our class; student, friend, patriot, gentleman. These indicate but a few of the fine qualities which make our friend Strauss the man that he is. The classmates and friends of Strauss in Bethany believe that his good records here are but preliminary to the successes that will be his when he takes his place in the big world of action that follows his college days.

If There Be Clouds

JUNIOR CLASS POEM

By Geo. M. Sutton, '19

Three years together we have trod the ways
With work and play and winning cheer —
And now we look with doubtful smile —
We face with joy the last short mile —
There is but one more year.

There is but one more year to work —
But one more goal to win!
How soon we sing the parting song —
How soon the months will speed along
That we will labor in.

'Tis joy that we can see the goal
But one more step away,—
But there is sorrow when we know
That soon it is for us to go —
To leave the Red and Gray.

O Class! the way has been so bright,
The sky has been so clear,
And all the friends have been so true
That we can pass with life anew
The coming Senior year.

But we will not forget the hours
That we have worked together —
Look up when it is dawning day,
And know that clouds of Red and Gray
Make happy Junior weather.

Sophomore Class Song

By Kathryn Mansell

Behold, we end another year,
A second milestone reaches near —
What has it brought to each classmate here?
To some, a courage that has no fear;
For others, hopes and memories dear.

We desire the next two milestones hold
A fulfillment of aims untold;
A realization of hopes so bold;
A start in life which will unfold
Services to mankind manifold.

Freshman Class Song

By Mary Williams

We sing of thee, O Bethany,
And of the white and green;
Whate'er betide, thou'lt ever be
Our hearts' beloved queen.
The mountains, holding thee so still
Within their warm embrace;
The halls that crown the college hill—
Each mem'ry-waking place;—
The Buffalo, that laughs to go
Past banks of sunlit green,
Or dance 'neath the ice and snow—
We love each tranquil scene.

And sing we, too, from hearts true-blue,
Of thy best, noblest son;
The class that's strong and brave and true,
The class of 'twenty-one.
Soon will have passed the three swift years
We've yet to spend with thee,
And we must say, through tender tears:
"Farewell, dear Bethany!"
And proudly we in years to be,
May scale Fame's mountain-height
To plant where all the world may see,
The crimson and the white.

The Graduate School of Religion

WHEN ALEXANDER CAMPBELL founded Bethany College, it was his purpose to establish a school which would teach God's Word as it is revealed in the Bible. From the beginning, courses in the English Bible have been offered on an equal basis with the other branches of learning and candidates for degrees have always been required to pursue some of these courses. Later it was found necessary to prepare men to preach the Gospel in its primitive simplicity, and Bethany then added a more thorough course in the Bible, in addition to other subjects which would be helpful to those who were to proclaim this message. Certificates, stating the courses pursued, were granted to those completing this course. Later the work of preparing men for the ministry was lost sight of in busy cares of college administration and the course in Bible training was limited to the Ministerial A.B. and the Ministerial A.M.

But there were men of vision in "Old Bethany" and for several years efforts were made to establish a graduate school of religion, but the time did not seem ripe for such a move. Last year the time seemed auspicious and the Graduate School of Religion of Bethany College was launched. Five new professors were added to the list of professors and the number devoting part or full time to graduate work is 10. These men represent the ripest scholarship of our brotherhood and their teaching ability is known near and far. The graduate school now offers the degree of B.D. In addition to this degree it offers special courses to those not prepared or not wishing to take the B.D. course. The aim is to make the B.D. equal to that of any school in America, and it challenges comparison with any school of similar type.

The Carnegie library, the Irvin gymnasium, the Cochran cottages, the new dormitories, the memorial church, the Oglebay hall all speak of the progress at "Old Bethany". But this is just the dawning of a new day. Men of means, who believe in the Gospel and "Our Plea", are willing to back up the movement with their money, and they have assured the management of the college that the money will be forthcoming to make the graduate school at Bethany second to none in the country. Our brotherhood has long felt the need of such a school. We have been sending our bright young men to study in other graduate schools and we have reaped the result of rationalism and higher criticism. But now that we have a graduate school of our own, we should turn all our young men preparing for the ministry toward this school.

It seems fitting that our first graduate school should be located at Bethany. Bethany of sacred name. Bethany which still echoes the names of Campbell, Richardson, Loos, McGarvey, Milligan and a hundred others whose names are written upon our scroll of fame. The past is glorious and the future beckons us with alluring promises. The graduate school is launched and we leave it in the hands of an appreciative brotherhood to foster and nourish.

MEMORANDUM

BETHANIAN

BOYD B. CHAMBERS,
Coach.

This pleasant face is that of our Coach. He believes in clean sport, and inspires his men to do their best. They like him and his leadership. So do all of us. Bethany was sailing under her "lucky star" when she landed this Coach.

WILBUR H. CRAMBLET,
Assistant Coach.

Here is the genius of the "scrub team," the foundation and training camp of our efficient "Varsity." Without the "Doctor" and his "scrimmagers," Coach Chambers could do nothing. With them, all things are possible. "Prof. Wilbur" is as capable on the athletic field as in the Chair of Philosophy. He is the real stuff—a man after our own heart.

WILLIAM T. LATTO,
Captain Elect.

This young giant and his associates bid fair to outdo even the marvelous record of Capt. "Doc" Elder's team. Latto is a bully good fellow, a splendid athlete, and all any team could desire in a captain. With the men he has, and a wildly enthusiastic college behind him, we may rightly expect to hear and see great things next fall.

BETHANIAN

Coach Chambers--Athletics--Irvin Gymnasium

COACH CHAMBERS: Of late years Bethany has felt the need of a man at the head of the Department of Physical Education who could put Bethany on the map in the Athletic world. Such a man came to us last September, Professor Boyd B. Chambers, affectionately known as "Coach" Chambers. Previous to his coming to Bethany Professor Chambers was for a period of nine years Athletic Director at Marshall College. While there he proved himself to be a wonder. With men of high school rank he developed a foot-ball team of high standing and held the championship of the State in base-ball and basket-ball. What he has already done for Bethany can hardly be expressed. The splendid work of the foot-ball team last fall, under the direction of our Coach is the best possible commendation of his work. But he promises us greater things in the near future, and these promises we are sure will materialize. Coach Chambers and Bethany men will put things "over the top".

FOOT-BALL: Perhaps there is another important reason why Bethany is rejoicing over the splendid foot-ball of last season. We think it not too strong to say that Bethany had the finest bunch of men, the finest spirited men, in her team last season of any year she has ever played foot-ball; consequently the best foot-ball team in the history of Bethany College. When you get men, real men, and a great leader together, there is bound to be something accomplished worthy of the name.

BASE-BALL: We are not yet able to give definite information as to our base-ball team for the coming season. But we have been assured that Bethany will have a base-ball team, of which we shall all be proud. Already several important games are scheduled.

THE IRVIN GYMNASIUM: This strictly modern gymnasium was donated by the Irvin family of Big Run, Pa. This building, of beautiful Gothic Architecture, is in harmony with the main college building. It is equipped with swimming pool, shower bath, team rooms, coach room, trophy room, lockers and track, in addition to the main gymnasium floor. The student body has been just a little disappointed this year in not being able to use the new gymnasium as they had anticipated. However, it would have been completed last fall had shipments of material not been delayed by war conditions. But we can assure the students of the coming year that they will have a gymnasium of which they can well be proud.

FUTURE ATHLETICS: Owing to the unsettled conditions in our college life at the present time, one cannot absolutely say what the future has in store in the way of Athletics. But we can consider Bethany fortunate in being assured that practically all of her old foot-ball men of last season will be back in the ranks this coming school year. Plans have already been laid for some of the biggest foot-ball games Bethany has ever played. Then, too, base-ball and basket-ball will be a big feature in Athletics for the coming year. With our Coach and our splendid teams, with our modern equipment, the prospect for Athletics is bright. Fine as has been the record, Bethany's greatness lies ahead.

And So Forth

A decorative horizontal border featuring a central chain of interlocking links. On either side of the chain are two vertical rectangular blocks with a dense, stippled or woven texture. The text "And So Forth" is printed in a blackletter font across the top of the chain.

These Profs

Some Search!

Dr. W. H. Cramblet (in History of Philosophy): I'm sorry that I haven't been able to locate "The City of God" yet.

Really, Professor?

Prof. Walker: "And here is one thing I say that I mean!"

Prof. Cole (in nine o'clock class, Saturday at 9:45): "Well?—After the waves of migration have passed by, we will resume the lesson."

Goin' Some!

Prof. Sutton: "The reason I gave Mr. —— a higher mark was because his story was logical."

Russell Lutz: "Well, you see, my story was logical too, but it was so deep you couldn't see it."

Up in D. S.

(In Home-nursing Class—Taking Temperatures.)

Mildred Frantz: "My pulse acts queer. It goes real slow for awhile, then it goes real fast."

Miss Smith: "Well, what were you doing before you came to class? Did you hurry up from the Hall?"

Mildred Frantz: "I just came up from the corridor."

Miss Smith: "Well, that might have something to do with it, too."

A Popular Resort.

Prof. Cole (in College Geography): "Locate and describe some localities where man could exist without labor."

Louis Foley (feelingly): "Heaven!"

Prof. Walker (in chapel): "You don't appreciate the Annual as much now as you will when you're bald-headed. I know!"

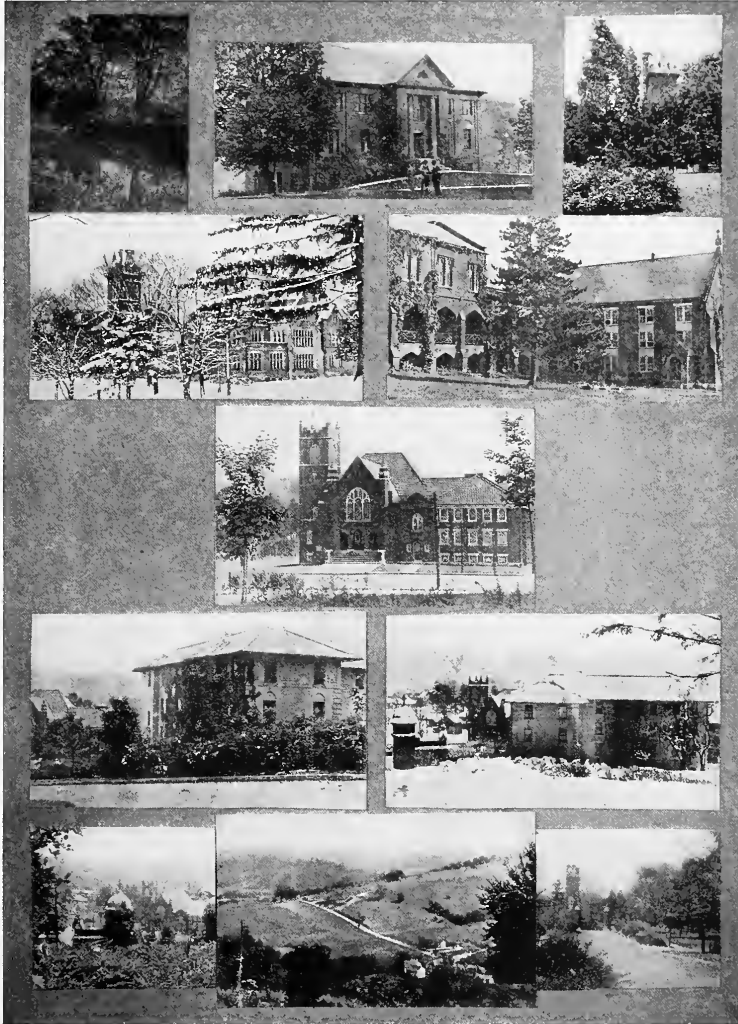

Prof. Cole (in Geology): "What is the difference between Geomorphography and Physiography, Mr. Chapman?"

J. C.: "I don't know that."

Prof.: "We-e-ell, I don't know any difference myself."

Prof. Perry (at the door of Prof. Cramblet's room): "Is this Prof. Miller's room?"

BETHANIAN

Miss Smith (after explaining at length the part played by the carbohydrates, proteids and fats, respectively, in the up-keep of the human body):

"Can anyone tell me the three foods required to keep the body in health?"

Voice from the Corner: "Breakfast, lunch, and dinner."

Freshman (in English class): "Mrs. Bourne, was Mary Lamb's middle name "Had-a?"

Dr. W. H. Cramblet (in chapel): "Tickets for the Home-coming will be on sale in the drawing room immediately after chapel.

First Stude: "When was the Revival of Learning?"

Second Stude: "The day before exams."

Senior: "I thought you took Math, last year."

Soph: "I did, but Prof. Balch encored me."

Absent Minded?

Prof. Gay: "Are there any more odd numbered sentences in this section that illustrate the use of the infinitive?"

Student: "I think number five does."

Prof. Clay: "Yes, it does, but five is not an odd number, is it?"

Foot-Ball.

He made a run around the end,

Was tackled from the rear,

The right guard sat upon his neck,

The full-back on his ear.

The center sat upon his legs,

Two ends sat on his chest,

The quarter- and the half-back then

Sat down on him to rest.

The left guard sat upon his head,

A tackle on his face;

The coroner was next called in

To sit upon his case.

Business.

Student: "How much do I owe the college, Mr. Danford?"

Mr. Danford: "I don't know. How much have you got?"

Prof. Walker: "Class, once I told a woman in a sermon that she was a hypocrite. I called no names, of course, but after services she told me she knew I meant her."

Student (in a loud whisper): "And he has been bald-headed ever since!"

These Freshies

Freshie: "D-jew see those girls smile at me?"

Senior: "That's nothing. Don't worry. I nearly laughed my head off when I first saw you."

Problem Solved.

"Waiter, this steak is so tough I can't cut it with this knife."

"Very good, sir. I'll bring you a sharper knife."

Natural.

First Stude: "Gee, I smell gas."

Second Stude: "Sawright! Prof's talking."

Fond Father.

Young Sweet Thing: "Jack wrote he is playing half-back on the Varsity."

Paw: "Yep! And the Dean wrote he is playing all the way back on his studies."

Bonehead Trainmen

It was on a train in the East. A young man was addressed by the woman in the seat behind him.

"Pardon me," she said, "but would you mind assisting me off at the next station? You see, I am very large, and when I get off I have to go backward, so the conductor thinks I am trying to get aboard and helps me on again. He has done that at three stations."

Easy.

"Can you give me an example of an unnecessary essential?"

"Nope, shoot me."

"Prof. Walker getting a hair-cut."

The world is old, yet likes to laugh,
New jokes are hard to find;
A whole new editorial staff
Can't tickle every mind.
So if you meet some ancient joke,
Decked out in modern guise,
Don't frown and call the thing a fake,
Just laugh — don't be too wise.

BETHANIAN

It's You

If you want to go to the kind of a school
That's the kind of a school you like,
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip
And start on a long, long hike.

You'll find elsewhere what you've left behind,
For there's nothing that's really new,
It's a knock at yourself when you knock your school;
It isn't your school — it's you.

Real schools are not made by people afraid
Lest somebody else gets ahead;
When everyone works and nobody shirks,
You can raise a school from the dead.

And if you make a success of the game,
Your neighbor can make one, too,
Your school will be what you want to see;
It isn't your school — it's you.

BETHANIAN

Poem

(This was written and put up on Miss McGee's door in response to a "Notice — Every girl whose room is not clean, see that it is clean by 10 A.M. Thursday. See that corners and dressers are clean.")

Mary had a little broom,
She used it on her floor —
She swept the corners of her room,
And e'en the clothes-press floor.

Second Spasm.

But tho she swept with all her might,
The floor would not come clean,
And in the sun's revealing light,
The dusty boards were seen.

Third Attack.

"I've mopped the floor most all the day,"
Cried Mary most in tears;
And then she heard a faint voice say,
" 'Tis the dust of many years."

Four.

"The carpets ne'er are taken up
In summer or in fall,
And many of them were laid down
When Phillips built the Hall."

Five.

"The dusty feet of countless girls
Have tramped these carpets dear,
And that is why, altho we sweep,
The dust is always here."

Six.

So have pity, Miss McGee, we pray,
This Thursday morn at ten,
For tho we sweep and dust all day,
Our rooms will not stay clean.

The Point Breeze Breeze

Of all the winds that come and go,
We've one that never fails to blow;
It's always blowing from Old Point Breeze,
So why not call it the Point Breeze Breeze?

One says, "That breeze is a sickly breeze,
It makes me wheeze and cough and sneeze;
And from its chilling blast, I'm told,
I've simply caught my death of cold."

Another says, "It's a healthful breeze,
For once I limped with trembling knees;
But now I skip, — I'm spry and gay,
For I breathe it deeply every day."

In the spring that breeze is a blustery breeze,
It blows in gusts, as if to tease.
One playful puff, — there goes my hat;
Another puff, — now where's it at?

And then it becomes a listless breeze,
And it makes us lazy with careless ease,
And we come to class all fussed and scared,
For our lessons all are unprepared.

But all summer long 'tis a balmy breeze
That wafts sweet perfume and drone of bees;
As it sighs along the corridor,
It makes the "bizzites" sigh yet more.

And when they walk in the moonlit breeze,
And he tries her dainty hand to squeeze,
It cools her blushing cheek so fair;
Old breeze, don't blow all you saw there!

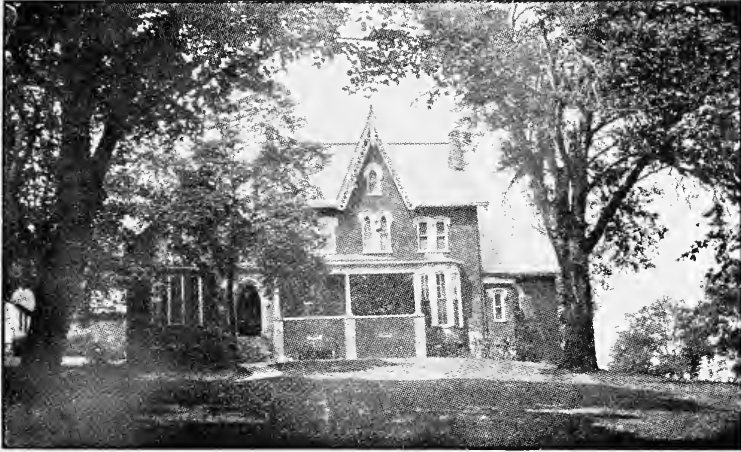

For that Point Breeze Breeze is a tell-tale breeze,
It seems to tell all that it sees;
For who else could have seen that trick
That got to "Prexy's" ears so quick.

Blow on, O blow, O Point Breeze Breebe,
Blow on as long and as hard as you please;
So when from Bethany's halls we go
Those memories fond with us will blow.

And when we hear a whispering breeze —
When we hear it murmuring thru the trees —
Tho' far away from here we'll be,
It's bearing a message from Bethany.

CAMPBELL MANSION

BETHANIAN

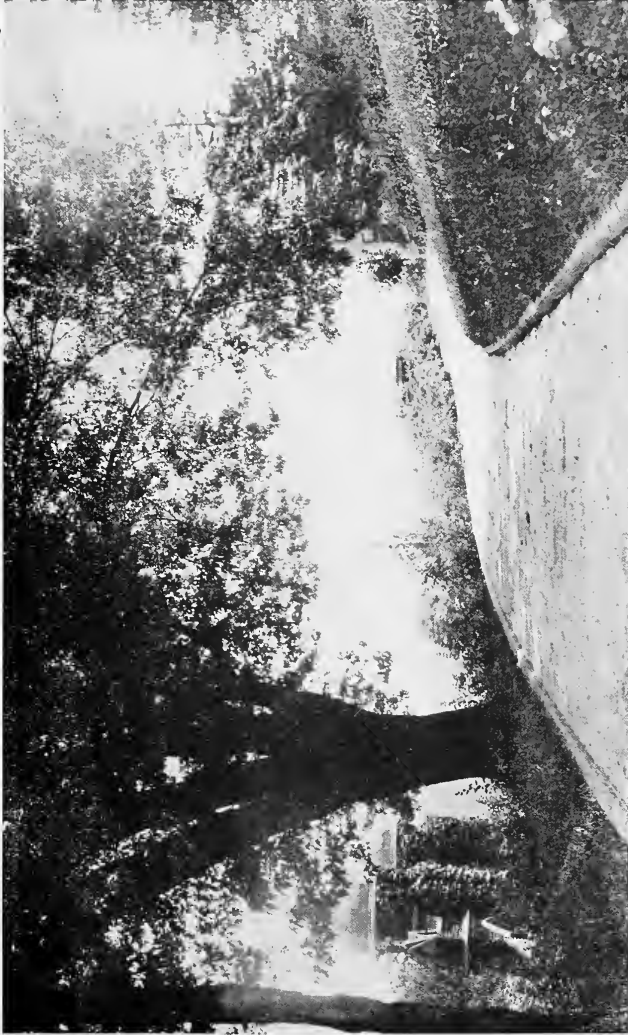

In Memory of Alexander Betterly

(Killed in Action in France)

O hail, brave heart, — whose prison cell now lies
Within that stony cave to which we all return!
What vales of light, — what plains of lucid glow
Now stretch before thy gaze, — where days before
A sullen, sultry fog enveleped all thy soul?
What innate power, — what force of will profound
Could make thee set thy life where all the arts of Hell
Would, surely as the morning swords of light,
Compel thy heart and coursing blood to cease,
And wrench thee from the form that was thine own?
O wondrous insight, that could make thee feel
That thus to die was but to make thee free!
O bold wing! that chose to leave the earth,
And fly to realms of earth-forbidden light,
And leave behind this bloody, mangled heap
Which we who live must even now call "world".
O Force Divine, — that made thee resolute
To die to free our lives from that barbaric chain
That makes us, weakened, drabble all our hopes
Behind us in the battle-blooded mire!
We will be free, — O life that died to live —
And we will not forget our debt to thee.

The Lights of Cochran Hall

I see them from the valley when the shadows softly fall
When the afterglow has vanished — the lights of Cochran Hall.

And I think of all the students in their rooms —

Some to revel in the classics,

Some to write the letter home,

Some to prank an under classman,

For social pleasures some —

Eager, alert, jolly students in their rooms.

And I breathe a brief petition for the stalwart laddies all
As they gather in the evening by the lights of Cochran Hall.

I see them in the morning, on the hill, like tapers tall,
When the world is just awaking — the lights of Cochran Hall.

And I wonder what the day to each will bring —

What of profit in the class room,

What of pleasure in the crowd,

What of hopes and disappointments,

What of privilege disallowed —

What the day, the hopeful coming day will bring.

And I send my whistled greeting, a comrade's cheery call,
To the laddies just awaking, by the lights of Cochran Hall.

As I look out to the future insistent voices call,
And quick I turn, expectant, to the lights of Cochran Hall.

And I reckon on the manhood yet to be —

Lights to lift the lingering shadows

Of an error-burdened earth,

Lights to show a surer pathway

For the new day waiting birth,

This the manhood, stalwart manhood yet to be :

Thus still the heart finds hope 'mid prospects that appall.

Hope that trusts and rests the issue with the lights of Cochran Hall.

Oh, the winds of youth blow hither and far beyond recall,
When I think of this I look again at the lights of Cochran Hall.

And remember there, the students in their rooms,

How their eager feet impatient

For the signal to lead on :

How swift the seasons slip away,

Till the fragrant years are gone —

Oh, laddies, stalwart laddies in your rooms!

Blessings on you waiting workers — blessings on you one and all.

We shall fondly wait the shining of the lights of Cochran Hall.

Flare forth ye gleaming beacons, ye lights of Cochran Hall!

Fear not earth's lingering phantoms, defy the tyrant's thrall;

For this your priceless heritage of youth,

Where rockets blaze and cannons belch,

In field or statehouse, court or mart,

By furnace glow mid whirring wheels,

Be there, brave lads, and do your part —

Bold champions still of right and truth.

And know, though distance come between, though thousand ills befall

We who tarry look to you — the lights of Cochran Hall.

On the Banks of the Old Buffalo

1. My father sent me to Old Beth'ny,
And resolved that I should be a man;
And so I settled down, in that quiet little town,
On the banks of the Old Buffalo.
Chorus:
On the banks of the Old Buffalo, my boys,
Where Old Beth'ny evermore shall stand;
For has she not stood since the time of the flood,
On the banks of the Old Buffalo.
2. As Fresh they used me rather roughly,
But I the fearful gauntlet ran;
Oh, they shook me so about, that they turned me inside out,
On the banks of the Old Buffalo.
3. We passed thro' all these trials nobly,
And then as Sophs our term began;
Oh, we hazed the poor Fresh so, that they longed for heaven, I know,
On the banks of the Old Buffalo.
4. And then I made my social entree,
And joined in many a social band,
And by my cunning art I stole many a maiden's heart,
On the banks of the Old Buffalo.
5. At last we joined the Senior circle,
And spread our fame o'er all the land;
We crowned our goblets high, with the hopes of "bye and bye",
On the banks of the Old Buffalo.
6. Then sing aloud for Alma Mater,
The green and white be in the van;
With her banner raised on high, Beth'ny's name shall never die,
On the banks of the Old Buffalo.

ALMA MATER

1. All hail to thee, hail to thee, bright Alma Mater!
Our hearts true affections twine closely to thee;
How dear to our hearts are the scenes of Old Beth'ny;
God speed Alma Mater and Old Bethany.

Refrain:

- We'll honor and crown thee, O bright Alma Mater,
For thou art the regent of our destiny,
We bring thee the gems and the treasures of mem'ry;
God speed Alma Mater and Old Bethany.
2. High up on the scroll . . . of honor and fame,
Thy sons, strong and manly, have written thy name;
But now we must leave thee, with hearts overflowing;
Farewell, Alma Mater and Old Bethany.

BETHANIAN

The Steps of College Hall

Oh, worn stone steps of College Hall,
How many feet on thee have trod!
Hurrying feet o'er thee did fly,
And weary feet up thee did plod;
The careless feet of many a child,
The thoughtful feet of dreaming men,
The dancing feet of laughing maid,
All these and more on thee have been.

'Twas up thy steps so long ago,
That Alexander Campbell came,
And after him a goodly train
Who since have honored Beth'ny's name,
And now the soldier's martial tread
Bespeaks a Fatherland at war,
Oh, soon may happy days return
And bring all peaceful steps once more!

NEW STANDARD PRESS BOOKS

POPULAR AND TIMELY

WIT AND HUMOR FOR PUBLIC SPEAKERS. Will H. Brown. Price, postpaid $1.40.

Those who need a fund of rich, clean and wholesome stories will find this collection valuable. The book has been prepared with the public speaker in mind, the stories being grouped under some seventy different subjects so one can readily find "a funny story" for most any occasion. Not only is there an index, but also a cross-reference, as many stories are applicable to more than one subject. —The Evangelical Messenger

WHERE TO SELL MANUSCRIPTS. W. L. Gordon. Cloth, 12mo. Price, postpaid, $1.00

This book gives the names, addresses and wants of over one hundred publishers buying short stories, serials, poems, special articles, etc. Tells kind each wants. Includes "Manuscript Record" and an excellent classified index. Invaluable to every aspiring author.

FORT BLOCKER BOYS. Lewis B. Miller. Decorated cloth, 8vo. Illustrated. Price, postpaid, $1.50.

"There is a sweep and enthusiasm about this new narrative which is unusual, the story, while in no sense of the goody-goody type, has an uplifting and wholesome influence which makes it especially adapted to the youthful mind. 'Fort Blocker Boys' is a book which can be recommended without qualification to any one interested in securing the best literature for growing boys."

The author is a writer for young people of wide experience and reputation. His serials have long been featured by such magazines as the Youth's Companion. He has written no better narrative than "Fort Blocker Boys."

BIBLE TRUTHS ILLUSTRATED. J. C. F. Pittman. Cloth, 12mo. Price, postpaid, $1.50.

This voluminous collection of illustrative material represents an entirely new idea in works of this kind. The author has gathered his great array of anecdotes with the constant purposes in mind of definitely enforcing Scripture truths. The material has been arranged by numbers under subject headings placed in the book in alphabetical order. This simple plan enables the reader to get at just the illustration he needs in the easiest and quickest way. A cross-reference index completes a very usable and original illustrative aid.

THE COMING OF THE DAWN. Jane A. Pierson. Cloth, 12mo. Illustrated. Price, postpaid, $1.50.

Every intelligent person knows in a general way that the Jews in Russia have suffered under the late autocracy, not only political and social disabilities, but wide-spread, torture and death. Here is a story presenting, in a graphic manner, the wrongs of an oppressed people, evidently founded upon first-hand knowledge. Into the record is woven a thread of love, winding around the world from America to Siberia, imparting a heart-touch to the narrative. —Dr. Jesse L. Hurlbut.

THE GIST OF THE BIBLE. Charles A. Shook. Cloth, Pp. 497. Price, postpaid, $1.50.

A complete hand-book of the Scriptures for classes and home study. It is the very essence of compactness, completeness and thoroughness, systematically arranged by sections and paragraphs. Contains nineteen maps especially designed by the author.

"The volume is worthy of the highest commendation." —The Evangelist.

THE GREAT ADVENTURE. Peter Stuyvesant. Cloth, 12mo. Illustrated. Price, postpaid, $1.50.

A romance of the days of Peter Hudson and Peter Stuyvesant and of the founding of New Netherlands. It is written from the Holland point of view, and is quite as interesting in its own way as is Washington Irving's "Knickerbocker's History of New York," the typical American book, which deals with the same field. The publication of this great Dutch classic in an English translation is a notable achievement in the literary world.

THE REVELATION OF JESUS CHRIST. H. C. Williams. Cloth, 12mo. Price, postpaid, $1.50.

This book is a revelation, or what an author with vision, heart and literary skill can do with a subject that has been treated by a multitude of writers with varying degrees of success.

Among the many volumes we have read on the mysterious Revelation, this is one of the very best. There is about it that strength, sanity and spirituality which commands the attention of the reader, and commends the author's conclusions to his intelligence.

We strongly advise our readers to buy this book.—The Postcoastal Herald.

THE STANDARD PUBLISHING COMPANY, CINCINNATI, OHIO

The Scope of the Work of the Christian Board of Publication

A great religious publishing house comprises many features. The aim of this house is to supply everything that may be needed in church and Sunday-school work.

Our Literature for Sunday-schools is the best to be had. We publish both the Uniform and the Graded series of lessons and five weekly papers. In buying our supplies your school will be getting the best in the way of literature.

Our Merchandise department furnishes everything in the line of sundries, such as cards, certificates, buttons, maps, blackboards, etc., as well as records, envelopes, collection plates and general church supplies.

Our Music department publishes the best Hymnals and Song Books. "Gloria in Excelsis," "Carmina Sacra," "King of Kings" and "Gospel Bells" are leaders in their respective fields.

The great Standard Books of the brotherhood are issued from our presses, and we handle the religious and best secular books of other publishers.

Last but not least comes The Christian Evangelist. This great religious weekly is a worthy standard bearer of the cause of primitive Christianity. It is loyal to the organized work of the church, and charitable to all who seek to serve one master. It should be read in every Christian home.

Your Co-Operation Solicited

If all the members of our churches—the people who really own this publishing house—would send us all their orders for books and supplies, there would be a great increase in the volume of business and in profits. Every order you send the house helps to build it up.
